Funeral of Miss Lizzie Bingham

A Daughter of Rev. Hiram Bingham
One of the Pioneer Missionaries of Hawaii.

Mention was made in the Advertiser yesterday morning of the death of Miss Lizzie Bingham, who passed away peacefully shortly after 12 o'clock the previous night, the news reaching this office too late for more than a bare mention of the fact.

Miss Bingham was born here March 8th, 1829, being the fifth child of Hiram and Sybil Bingham, who were of the first band of American missionaries to come to the Hawaiian Islands, arriving here in 1820, and landing at Kailua in April of that year.

The history of the family would be virtually a history of the religious work done in these Islands in the past sixty years, the name of Bingham being inseparably connected with the growth of Island Christianity.

The early part of Miss Bingham's education was attained here, in common with the children of the other missionaries. In 1840 the Rev. Hiram Bingham returned with his family to the United States for the purpose of better educating his children, that they might continue the good work so well begun and carried on by him.

In 1868 or 1869 Miss Bingham entered Kawaiahaeo Seminary as assistant to her sister, then principal, and when the sister joined her fortunes with those of the Rev. Mr. Coan at Hilo Miss Lizzie accepted the position at the head of the school, which place she filled most acceptably until 1882.

Of late years she has not been strong physically, but what strength she had, and her every thought, have been devoted to the betterment of the Hawaiian people.

Her fortitude under severe physical burdens has been a shining example of Christian strength in one who placed implicit trust in her Heavenly Father. Her brother, the Rev. Hiram Bingham, with Mrs. Bingham, and her sister, Mrs. Coan, were with her at the last, and as soon as it was known that the end was near her many friends flocked to the house with offers of help and sympathy.

The funeral services were held at the home residence, corner of Alexander and Dole streets, Punahele, the interment taking place in the family lot in the rear of Kawaiahaeo church.

All of the kaamainas who were able to be out were in attendance, with many of the later comers, who knew and loved her. The floral decorations at the house and grave were profuse and beautiful. The services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Kincaid, who gave a brief discourse from the text, Philippians 1:21, "For me to live is Christ, and to die is gain," at the conclusion of which he paid the following personal tribute to Miss Bingham:

And now, what shall I say specifically of this noble and beautiful life just ended. How delineate in words the character of one whom all hearts loved, and whose wealth of womanly worth and virtue is written not alone in words, but in love and devotion, in which all claim a share. In this gathered company of sympathizing friends in the testimonies to her worth which have been heard on every side, since the word went forth that she had entered into rest, in these there is a more fitting eulogy than any that I can pronounce.

It is seldom a life is rounded to three-score and ten which bears so rare and transparent a beauty as that which belonged to her who has received the angel call. Those of you who knew of her work at the head of one of our educational institutions need no words of mine to remind you of her conscientious faithfulness in the discharge of every duty. It is doubtful whether Mary Lyon at Mount Holyoke exercised a more noble and Christly influence over the young women under her charge than did Elizabeth Bingham over the Hawaiian girls during the years she was at the head of Kawaiahaeo Seminary.

But it was in the sanctuary of home that her beautiful life most conspicuously shone, winning the admiration not only of those in closest contact with her, but of those who from without looked in upon it, and marveled at its patience, its resignation, its steady cheerfulness and unwavering fidelity and faith. The memory of such a life cannot but linger as a perpetual benediction. A marked feature of her Christian living was a strict conscientiousness, which is but another name for living in the fear of God. She subjected all her conduct to the scrutiny of conscience, and thus did all her life-work under the eye of God. She loved the word of God. It was the constant food of her soul.

The angels have come to bear her from us, and yet her earth-work was done. Death to her is no interruption of life. It is only a transfer of the sphere of its exercise. "She is not dead, but sleepeth." Rather let us say she is dead, but liveth. Life is not ended, but begun, and death is only the dark gateway through which, bowing low, she has passed into the clearer light, the wider liberty, the larger activities of the Heavenly world. There full atonement will be made for the darkness, and the hardness, and the roughness of the way leading thither; the lost treasure will be regained, the blighted ideal realized. From such a life we learn the lesson of earnestness.

"Tis not for us to trifle; life is brief, And sin is here. Our age is but the falling of a leaf, A dropping tear."

We have no time to sport away the hours, All must be earnest in a world like ours. Not many lives, but only one have we; One, only one.

"How sacred should that one life be, That narrow span. O, life below, how brief, and poor, and sad— One heaving sigh. O, life above, how long, how fair, how glad— An endless joy."

At the Water Works.

Mr. Andrew Brown was seen yesterday regarding the water outlook. He stated that the lot for the new pumping plant at Kalihi had been secured and that Messrs. McCandless Bros. would begin work at once on the new wells. Work on laying the new twelve-inch mains on King street, to connect with the new pumps at Kalihi, has been started, and Mr. Brown expects to be ready to put in the pumping plant as soon as it arrives. The new works will probably be in operation within three months.

Fell into a Trench.

As a Beretania street car was crossing King street on Fort at about 6:45 last evening, one of the horses fell into the trench cut by the sewer contractors, and in falling, dragged his companion along with him. The animals were speedily dragged out by a number of bystanders, none the worse for the mishap.

Struck His Man.

A downtown restaurant was the scene of a little disturbance at about 5:30 last evening. A dispute between a hackdriver and a colonial youth was settled in the good old way, regardless of time and place; but before any serious damage was done, the combatants were separated and hustled off.

It is reported that an option on C. M. Cooke's property enclosed by Beretania, Kapiolani and Young streets, is held by George Paris, upon which it is proposed to erect the new hotel represented by Mr. Paris. The purchase price is given at $20,000.

A large transaction in Ewa bonds, aggregating $500,000, is reported. The Hawaiian Trust & Investment Co., aided by its friends, took the entire issue of 10-year bonds at premium of 5% of 1 per cent. The most of the bonds will be held by Island people.
